The Cobas Lux SICAV Palm Harbour Global Value Fund was up +556% during May (NAV €18.42 30th May versus April 30th 2025 €17.45). After April's "Liberation Day" sell off and quick recovery, many took the view Trump was in fact deal making with the rolling back of parts of his tariff bombardment, May was characterized by Trump changing course several times. Markets largely ignored this erratic bargaining and marched slowly higher. Whilst we are in the camp that Trump is negotiating, we think real damage is being done to the economy, albeit a very strong one, and we think the more relaxed markets are, the more likely he will again push his tariff agenda aggressively. It was likely the bond market reaction, and to a lesser extent the equity markets that made him reverse course quickly. We believe the markets are a bit too relaxed and we see volatility ahead. As said before, this could likely provide us opportunities in the future. ...

May's top contributors were Cuckoo, Lottomatica and Danieli. Cuckoo reported strong first quarter results (Sales +7.8%) driven by the domestic market product line expansion. The Malaysian IPO of Cuckoo Homesys Malaysia which was initially scheduled for April 30th, but has been rescheduled to June 24th, 2025, which could potentially be an additional catalyst. Likewise, Lottomatica reported a solid first quarter (Sales +12% like-for-like; EBITDA +32% like-for-like). Apollo decided to sell another 10.3% stake at only a 45% discount from the previous close which increased the free float and reduced the overhang to only 21.3%.

May's top detractors were Esprinet, IGT and Solvay. Esprinet reported disappointing guidance (-3.6% versus 2024 at the mid-point) despite a reasonable first quarter. It was likely highly cautious given the macro backdrop. IGT won the Italian tender as we expected but the price paid is significantly higher than we, and the market expected. Management believes they can still make the contract highly profitable, but this will be down to execution.

In other news, Ocean Wilson announced that all regulatory approvals were given for the sale of Wilson, Sons and announced the deal closing date of 4th of June. Please note our cash balance was abnormally high at quarter in due to inflows and not a market view.
